

Steve Adelman

Since retiring from the U.S. Army in 2008, Steve Adelman has owned and operated Citizen Arms as a Type 07 FFL and Class II SOT. His passion for building and customizing AR-pattern firearms draws on Steve's experiences as a Special Operations Sniper, Assaulter and sniper weapons R&D specialist. He's built or accurized more than 1200 precision ARs for citizens across the United States, as well as military and law enforcement organizations. He's also a multi-disciplined firearms instructor and has worked as a consultant for firearms, ammunition and precision optics manufacturers. As a freelance writer, Steve has served as the Rifle Editor for the NRA's Shooting Illustrated magazine (2010 to present) and written several hundred print articles for a dozen firearms publications. He holds a Bachelor's degree in Business Management and Health Sciences from Liberty University, heads a large and loving family and is an unabashed follower of Jesus Christ.
